

SOCIAL and PERSONAL

A NUMBER of Richmond women are attending the meeting of the Woman's Synodical Missionary Union in Danville this week. Among those going as delegates are Mrs. George Randolph Cannon, who is staying at Hotel Burton; Mrs. R. B. Magill and Mrs. J. Calvin Stewart, also at Hotel Burton; Miss Elizabeth Call, in the home of Mrs. Mack Smith; Mrs. Thomas Cary Johnson, of Union Theological Seminary; at Mrs. J. E. Perkins'; Miss Porter Sande, in the home of Mrs. W. B. Lewis; Miss Jane Rutherford, at Mrs. George Temple's; and Miss Elizabeth Wilson, at Mrs. McSmith's.

Miss Marlowe Leading Lady.
Miss Julia Marlowe will inaugurate her season by playing the title role of Miss Mary Deland in "The Goddess of Reason." She will interpret the character of a young Breton girl named Yvette, who is the daughter of a peasant mother and of the old Baron Heigl, or Morbec. The scenes occur at the time of the French Revolution, and Yvette first appears as the leader of the peasants in the town of Morbec, Brittany.

The time of the action of the drama is from 1792 to 1794. The scenes show the chateau of Morbec in Brittany; the garden of the Convent of the Visitation in Nantes; a square in Nantes, a church used as a prison and a judgment hall in the same place, and the banks of the Loire.

Miss Marlowe is quoted by the New York American as saying: "I shall open my season with 'The Goddess of Reason' in Boston about Thanksgiving. And will be ready to play in New York shortly after the beginning of the New Year. I am sincerely convinced that 'The Goddess of Reason' is without question the greatest poetic drama yet written by any American. It is because I think so highly of the work that I have decided to make it my first production for the season. I believe that the literary fame of Miss Johnston as the author of several of the most successful American novels gives the play an added claim to the public attention. That Miss Johnston could conceive fine plots was already known, but I suspect that the consummate art she displays as poet and dramatist will come as a surprise."

The marriage was postponed from the early autumn on account of Mr. Byrd's illness. He has greatly improved, and it is believed that his trip to the Mediterranean will completely restore his health.

DR. RACHEL S. SKIDELSKY.
One of the best known practitioners of Philadelphia and a member of the County Medical Society, after starting the Women's Club recently by defending the tobacco habit among men, started it still more by advocating the use of cigarettes by women. "Many physicians hold similar views," Dr. Skidelsky said, "but hesitate to advise their women patients to smoke because of a fear that what was offered as medicine might become habitual indulgence." Dr. Skidelsky was born in Russia, but has lived in this country for thirty-nine years and has a large practice. "I feel sure," she said, "that tobacco if pure and properly used might be beneficial to women. I think that if a woman would sit down for five minutes before beginning her day's work and five minutes thus used three times daily would be, I think, of much benefit to her. I would, of course, recommend the practice only to such as were in no danger of becoming addicted to the more extended use of cigarettes."

color scheme being white and yellow. Yellow was the prevailing color in the spacious hallway, while white predominated in the parlors and dining-room. There was an abundance of white chrysanthemum. Dozens of candles added beauty to the scene.

The best man was Mr. Robert Henning Webb, of Suffolk, Va., while the two sisters of the bride, Misses Elizabeth and Joan White, acted as maids of honor.

CLERGY AND LAYMEN WILL ASSEMBLE

Philadelphia to Be Site of Distinguished Gathering Next December.

PHILADELPHIA, November 5.—One of the most distinguished assemblages of clergy and laymen ever witnessed in this country will gather here during the first week in December to participate in the sessions of the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America. Twenty-eight leading Protestant churches will send 368 delegates to the convention.

Every church has selected its ablest men to represent it at this great interdenominational conference, and in consequence of which scores of eminent public men, jurists, theologians, educators, scientists, merchants, and in fact, leaders in every profession, will attend. Methods of co-operation by the leading Protestant bodies along lines that will promote the welfare of all, while avoiding all doctrinal topics upon which the denominations disagree, will be discussed.

Among the distinguished laymen who will be in attendance will be Governor Hughes, of New York, who will discuss "Civil Righteousness," and Governor Ansel, of South Carolina. The Congressional church will send, among others, Professor Charles W. Kent, of the University of Virginia.

From the Methodist Episcopal, South, will come W. W. Smith, president of Randolph-Macon College, and Bishops Hendrix, Galloway, Hoss, Ward and Wilson.
